

Ethics policy
Edinburgh College of Art

It is advised that any member of staff or research student conducting research with potential ethical issues should refer the project to the College Research Board for recommendation and approval, prior to undertaking the research. A more detailed research policy is currently being drafted.